THE TRAIL OF PAINTED PONIES

Blood Brothers

Artist: Kelly Kurtz

Native Americans believed that the bond between horse and rider was sacred. These two spirits became one. "Blood Brothers" pays tribute to this eternal devotion as a loyal war pony respectfully bows at the grave of his fallen rider...his friend...his Blood Brother. Even at the end of life, these bonds of loyalty and love could never be broken.

Western Leather

Western Leather

Artist: Vickie Knepper-Adrian

This stunning Painted Pony pays tribute to the "Art of Leather." Cowboys who drifted with the winds across the great plains were the first leather artisans. At the end of their long days, they would sit by the fire and create masterpieces with great love, using the only canvas they could find: longhorn leather. "Western Leather" captures the romance of the American West.

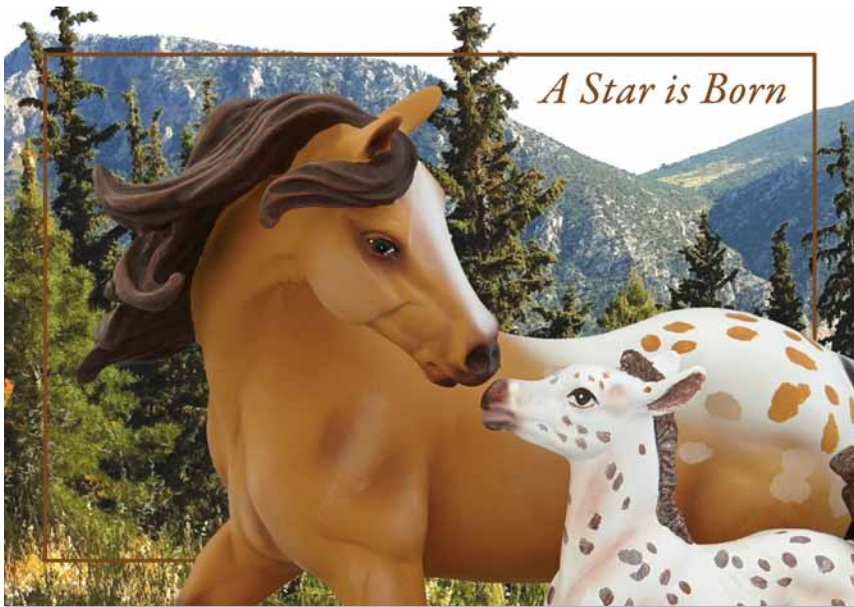

Photo Finish

Artist: Janee Hughes

In the fast-paced world of horse racing, a "photo finish" depicts a race in which two or more horses cross the finish line separated by a nose. This dramatic moment is captured in "Photo Finish," as three horses sprint to the finish line in a race too close to call... the final winner to be determined by a photograph.

A Star is Born

Artist/Sculptor: Kathleen Moody

A Tribute to the Appaloosa Horse...

Each Spring, a ritual is reborn across the great plains, as Appaloosa mares give birth to the next generation of foals. These majestic horses were beloved by Native Americans, and were prized for their bold colors and brave hearts. "A Star is Born," captures this breathtaking renewal of life as a mother proudly welcomes her beautiful baby.
